Welcome to this edition of the Felsham and Gedding Village News.

Welcome to the September Edition

A huge thank-you to everyone who helped make the Village Fete such a success—from the organisers and stallholders to the raffle-ticket sellers, cake bakers, and behind-the-scenes helpers who kept everything running smoothly. It was a brilliant day, full of energy, laughter, and the kind of community spirit that makes village life so special.

As routines start to return and school terms begin, I'll admit—I'm still holding onto summer. It seemed to come and go in a flash this year, and I'm not quite ready to trade sandals for scarves just yet.

In this month's Wellness page, we're coming to the end of our series on anxiety. If there's a particular topic you'd like us to explore next—whether it's mental wellbeing, relationships, stress, or something completely different—do let us know. We'd love to hear what matters most to you.

As always, if there's a neighbour to thank, an idea to share, or an event coming up, don't be shy—Village News is made for and by the people who live here.

Warm wishes,

Corinna

PS The Wellness page is missing, it will be available in the October edition. We wanted to share the news about the fantastic new Village Sign.

The New Village Sign.....

Thanks go to many people, firstly to Chris Bassett of Upper Green, who designed the sign and Jane Crick, also of Upper Green, who prepared Chris's design for the Blacksmith.....

Welcome to our new Village Sign!

It is very exciting that we now have a village sign in Felsham. The sign was first talked about in the millennium with Chris Bassett, the designer, then brought up again in 2008. Now we have a sign! With thanks to the Parish Council for making it happen and then a special thanks to Jason Stringer, Mark Tavernor, Paul Kearney and Simon Garrod for putting it up.

Parish Report

Cllr Penny Otton, Thedwastre South

07545 423847 - penny.otton@suffolk.gov.uk

Motions passed on fairer funding and Ipswich northern bypass

At full council on Thursday 10 July, two motions were passed: the Conservatives' motion on fairer funding for local government, and a motion brought by Labour in favour of a 'northern bypass' to make the county less reliant on the Orwell Bridge and alleviate traffic pressure on Ipswich when it is closed.

My group tabled a motion to make it easier to obtain 20mph speed limits where the community supports one, but this was rejected by the Conservative administration on the grounds that they were already planning to do this.

Upgrade to Materials Recovery Facility (MRF) at Great Blakenham

At Cabinet on Tuesday 15 July, a decision was made to upgrade the facilities at the recycling centre at Great Blakenham so the council can fulfil its duties for 'Simpler Recycling'. The new law to collect glass and food waste was passed by the previous Conservative government, but the changes have not yet come into effect. Suffolk County Council does not collect waste or recycling, but it does have responsibility for the waste and recycling once it is collected by district and borough councils, and this means it needs to make changes to its recycling centre. The works will be paid for by Extended Producer Responsibility (EPR) funding, whereby producers of packaging must pay for the cost of dealing with it when it is empty and discarded. The council has already received this funding (£5.9m) from the government and will be using it to cover half the cost of the works to upgrade the Material Recovery Facility to reduce the amount the council would have to pay to cover the borrowing costs of the contractor (Biffa) on the full amount. This is an 'invest to save' decision – the council will save money on the amount of money it has to pay Biffa in the long term. The full cost of the upgrade will be £10-12m.

Safeguarding in Suffolk

The Cabinet meeting on 15 July also saw annual reports tabled on safeguarding in Suffolk, giving details of how the council works to keep children and vulnerable adults safe and priorities to improve these services. There have been recent changes to processes in the Multi Agency Safeguarding Hub (MASH), where social workers, Suffolk Police and NHS work together to assess safeguarding referrals and decide on the best way forward. For referrals about children, the recent Ofsted report had recommended that there needed to be more consistency in how concerns were handled. This is a national rather than local issue. Around the county, the Suffolk Safeguarding Partnership has been holding events to raise awareness of dementia and how to support people living with dementia, and has also released a short film for young people experiencing suicidal thoughts, following a number of suicides referred to the case review panel.

Transitions from children's services to adult services

On Wednesday 9 July, the council's Scrutiny Committee looked at how young people are supported as they move from children's services to adult services. Not all children who receive support from children's services need continued help in adulthood, but those who are disabled, have learning disabilities or who need social care support often have to move across to access adult services at the age of 18. They hope to co-produce a better service through consultation with young people and their families.

Preparing for fires

Suffolk Fire and Rescue are asking responsible persons in non-domestic and higher-risk residential buildings to review their foam fire extinguishers. New regulations against perfluorooctanoic acids (PFOAs), which are 'forever chemicals' that don't break down, came into effect on 4 July 2025. PFOAs are toxic and build up over time in living organisms, and can be found in foam extinguishers used for Class B fires involving flammable liquids such as petrol, diesel, paints or solvents. Foam extinguishers from the last 10 years are unlikely to contain PFOAs, but it is important to check the label and consult with the supplier if unsure. Changes to fire-fighting equipment should also prompt a review of the fire risk assessment for the building, and additional training for staff if needed. Suffolk Fire and Rescue will carry out audits and inspections to make sure fire safety regulations are being followed and equipment is up to date.

Following the heatwave in summer 2022, Suffolk Fire and Rescue invested in new adapters to help them fight wildfires on farmland. These adapters enable fire engines to connect to a farm's water bowzers and tanks once the onboard water has been used up. The adapters are currently being trialled out of fire stations in Ipswich East, Princes Street Ipswich, Haverhill, Bury St Edmunds, Newmarket and Lowestoft.

The fire service are also keen that people download the What3Words app, as this makes it easy for the control room and crews to locate fires that are in the middle of the countryside with no landmarks or road names. It uses GPS so you don't need to have a mobile phone signal or data for it to work.

Bradfield Woods in September

It has been a busy Summer in the woods. The summer holidays have seen lots of visitors exploring the woods and enjoying the shade of the trees on hot days.

Butterfly numbers appear to have been good this year; we will find out the true numbers at the end of September. You may see Steve in the woods with his net and notebook. He walks the same route weekly (and sometimes more than once a week) and records the butterfly species and numbers he sees. He has been doing this for years, which means we have a fantastic record of what is happening to butterfly populations over time.

The reserve team and volunteers have been busy rerouting the entrance to the woods to ensure the safety of visitors. They have made post and rail fencing, with hand tools, from coppiced trees. Now is the time for cutting and raking the butterfly glades, and the edges of the rides, and marking out the coppice block in preparation for the start of coppice season in October.

Dear Friends

We are rapidly approaching my favourite time of the year – Autumn. Autumn? Yes, Autumn. Now don't get me wrong, I love all the seasons in turn, but Autumn has a special place in my heart. I am not a great lover of the heat and so don't find summer (in particular, this summer!) much of a joy. Autumn brings the promise of cooling temperatures and even log fires. This is the time to put the garden to rest for the winter. A time of, perhaps, some late fruits to stew or make into jam. Autumn is the time for getting ready to hunker down for the coming winter. I also love the autumn colours and that particular autumn smell that woodlands give off. In the church we are celebrating the harvest with our local farmers and that is always an enjoyable time.

I also rather subscribe to the Danish idea of hygge; a sense of cosiness and conviviality around the fire, perhaps with a cup of tea and a piece of cake, or crumpets oozing with butter.

Do you enjoy a cuppa? You are not alone! Yet, despite tea being the most popular drink worldwide, after water, with over 100 million cups being drunk daily in the UK, the people who grow and pick our tea are facing, low wages, unsafe working conditions and the growing impact of climate change. Our cup of tea comes at a cost for those who produce it for us and that's just not fair.

Tea production supports 13 million people worldwide and therefore has the potential to improve the lives of so many if changes are made to pay and working conditions. That is why the Fairtrade Foundation is putting tea at the centre of its campaigning during Fairtrade Fortnight which runs from the 22nd September to the 5th October. Over these two weeks the Fairtrade Foundation is calling on all of us to encourage the UK government and businesses to take stronger steps towards fairer pay, better working conditions and climate resilience for tea workers. We can all do our bit by signing the Brew it Fair petition on the Fairtrade Foundation website at <https://www.fairtrade.org.uk/do-it-fair/>

However, if campaigning is not for you then you can take an important step by simply buying Fairtrade tea. It is freely available in most supermarkets in both caffeinated and decaffeinated forms. Buying Fairtrade tea can make a real difference to producers around the world.

The Christian faith teaches us that justice and fairness is what our God wants from us and buying Fairtrade products is one way we can put our faith into action.

Whatever you are doing this September, enjoy it, and, of course, we'd love to see you at any of our services across the benefice.

yours in Christ

If you've recently returned to work after some time away, you might find your payslip a bit confusing. You're not alone – it can take a little time to get used to the different sections and terms.

By law, employers must give you a payslip (on paper or online) showing what you've been paid and what's been deducted. It's a good idea to keep your payslips for up to six years, just in case you need them later.

Your payslip should include your employer's details, your name, and possibly an employee number. You'll also see a payment date (when your pay reaches your bank) and a tax period. The UK tax year starts in April, so tax period 01 is April, 02 is May, and so on.

You'll also see your National Insurance (NI) number – this is your personal number used to record your NI contributions, which help you qualify for state benefits like the pension.

Next is your tax code, set by HMRC. This usually includes numbers and a letter. The numbers show how much of your income is tax-free; the letter reflects your situation. You can check what your tax code means at <https://www.gov.uk/tax-codes/what-your-tax-code-means>. If you're on an 'emergency' code (ending in W1, M1 or X), you might be paying too much tax, so it's worth checking.

Your gross pay is what you earn before anything is taken off. This might include your basic pay plus extras like travel allowance. If you're paid by the hour, the rate and hours worked should be shown. If holiday pay is included with your wages, it should be listed separately.

Deductions may include tax, National Insurance, pension, or student loan payments. These are added up, and what's left is your net pay – the amount that goes into your bank.

You might also see taxable pay, showing how much of your income has been taxed so far this year.

If anything doesn't seem right, it's best to speak to your employer.

Citizens Advice Mid Suffolk can provide in depth advice on this issue and much more, including debt, finances, employment, benefits and family/relationships. You can contact them by phone on 01449 676060, visit in person at Milton House, 5 Milton Road South, Stowmarket IP14 1EZ or use the contact form at midsuffolkcab.org.uk/contact-us. Opening hours are Monday-Thursday 9.30am – 3.30pm and Friday 9.30am – 12.30pm.

WE ARE NOW TAKING ORDERS FOR WHOLE AND HALF FELSHAM GROWN
LAMBS FOR AUGUST DELIVERY.

A whole lamb fills two carrier bags so it's not a lot of space in your freezer. We will be charging £95.00 per half lamb (roughly 10 kg) and £180 per whole lamb (roughly 20kg). This is cheaper than what you can buy in the supermarket and you can guarantee what it is, where it has come from and what it has eaten!

Limited Supply – call Jo or Mark on 01449 737793

VACANT ALLOTMENTS

We have several half and full plots available on the allotments behind the church here in Felsham. Although the vacant allotments are currently unkept they will be rotovated prior to being taken up by the new gardener. The rent is low compared to other village allotment gardens as we would like to encourage full usage. With the ever-rising cost of vegetables, now is the time to start growing your own. Nothing better than fresh vegetables grown by yourselves, cooked and eaten within hours of harvesting. No air miles there then!!!!

£15 P/A full plot, £7.50 P/A half plot.

Contact Brinley Hart (Bryn) 07401 100172.
